

Sondra Satele, Sophia Holland, Grant Debaauer, Markell Thornton

2/19/24

Informatics 103

Draft Project Proposal

Ideas

- Funny pictures with captions. Try to figure out a truth or false picture.
- Red Pill Gym Bros
 - The ethical framework and how that represents the present day. There are a lot of discussions about ethical debates. A simple bot like a truth-telling bot measures if something is true or not. Writes an analysis of a theoretical action—a simple version of it but a dream one that has a more nuanced to it.
 - Compares denotology with libertarianism with a bot that asks whether you're home or not. If you say no, despite being home, the bot knows your location and knows when you're home or not. Instead, the bot can ask if you've ever uploaded a controversial post or uploaded/interacted with an NSFW bot. It cannot be accessed if you've been to the page but focuses on upvoting certain content.
-
- Ethical Frameworks
 - Stoicism vs Libertarianism/Selfish Proposal
 - Libertarianism is a very socially relevant one and contrasts it with care ethics. A lot of the conversations are surrounded by individual rights/freedoms but not collective enough.
-

Our actual idea – Sentiment analysis is to be contrasted with the compilation of images. There is an ethical debate about how sentimental analysis is not reflective of how things are inherently positive. It's a hotbed of an echo chamber.

- Tumblr + Anorexias community was a negative community. Yet, it was a supportive community. It's similar to the looks-maxing community. I.e. Eugenia Cooney with libertarianism, in the sense that no one can force her to get help despite that she's slowly killing herself. Her mother plays a role in enabling her eating disorder.
- Context/Nuance for Red Pill Gym bro — It's a misguided and incomplete history that has a large history. It's similar to the way that Greek/Roman statues with the white marble. There is an obsession within Western society to model and use that as a pinnacle of beauty. Winckelmann comes to mind. Historically, those statues were bright and colorful but faded with time. Everyone's belief in the modern era is false and misguided. The same way that the stoics spent decades studying this and the gym bros have misinterpreted this information. Virtues are a byproduct of justice/wisdom and young people are misguided by instant gratification. The emphasis on being happy is an elusive target.

Updated Notes

- Truth telling bot that asks “have you visited or interacted with this subreddit?” It answers yes or no questions, then calls you out for it. In the scenario—you have a redpill gym bro preaching about something. The bot asks to critique a concept or visit a subreddit, then the bot calls him out for it.